- The strict curbs on movement of people and a host of other activities are in force in the state since April 14.

Amid a massive surge in both novel coronavirus cases and deaths in the state, Maharashtra government on Thursday extended the current Covid-19 restrictions till May 15. The strict curbs on movement of people and a host of other activities are in force in the state since April 14 and were to end on April 30. Essential services have been exempted from the curbs.

Maharashtra health minister Rajesh Tope on Wednesday had said that the lockdown in Maharashtra will be extended by another 15 days beyond April 30.
