

Further relaxations in Kovid restrictions

The government has lifted restrictions on the spread of Kovid-19 in cinemas, restaurants and bars across the state. With this, sitting was allowed in all the seats in the cinema theaters. The time and seat restrictions on bars, hotels, restaurants and other eateries have been lifted. These institutions can now operate on the same schedule as before the Kovid regulation. Public events can be as large as 1,500 people per 25 square feet, with a social distance of one person. Meetings and trainings can be conducted offline at government offices if required.
